Registration is now open for the 2017 Future of Medicine Summit. Click here to register online. Featured Speakers to include Dr. David Nash.

Featured Speaker

Dr. Nash is a board-certified internist who is internationally recognized for his work in public accountability for outcomes, physician leadership development, and quality-of-care improvement.

Repeatedly named to Modern Healthcare’s list of Most Powerful Persons in Healthcare, his national activities cover a wide scope. Dr. Nash is a principal faculty member for quality of care programming for the American Association for Physician Leadership in Tampa, FL and leads their academic joint venture with JCPH. He serves on the NQF Task Force on Improving Population Health and the John M. Eisenberg Award Committee for The Joint Commission. He also is a founding member of the AAMC-IQ Steering Committee, the group charged with infusing the tenets of quality and safety into medical education. Dr. Nash was recently appointed to the Board of the Pharmaceutical Quality Alliance (PQA) in Washington, DC. Dr. Nash has received many awards in recognition of his achievements. He received the top recognition award from the Academy of Managed Care Pharmacy (1995), the Philadelphia Business Journal Healthcare Heroes Award (1997), and was named an honorary distinguished fellow of the American College of Physician Executives in 1998. In 2006 he received the Elliot Stone Award for leadership in public accountability for health data from NAHDO. Wharton honored Dr. Nash in 2009 with the Wharton Healthcare Alumni Achievement Award and in 2012 with the Joseph Wharton Social Impact Award. Also in 2012, he and JCPH received the Philadelphia Business Journal award for innovation in medical education.
Dr. Nash’s work is well known through his many publications, public appearances, “Nash on the Road” blog, and online column on MedPage Today. He has authored more than 100 peer-reviewed articles and edited 23 books, including Connecting with the New Healthcare Consumer, The Quality Solution, Demand Better, and most recently Population Health: Creating a Culture of Wellness (2nd edition). He was the inaugural Deputy Editor of Annals of Internal Medicine (1984-1989). Currently, he is Editor-in-Chief of American Journal of Medical Quality, Population Health Management, P&T, and American Health and Drug Benefits.

Dr. Nash received his BA in economics (Phi Beta Kappa) from Vassar College; his MD from the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry and his MBA in Health Administration (with honors) from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania. While at Penn, he was a former Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Clinical Scholar and Medical Director of a nine-physician faculty group practice in general internal medicine.

PBCMS/HERC Opioid Task Force
PBCMS and the Healthcare Emergency Response Coalition will convene an Opioid Task Force this month. The purpose of the Task Force will be to educate and raise physician, hospital, healthcare provider and community awareness.

Just Three Words
What three words describe your profession and your passion for being a doctor? Join the PBCMS Campaign and send us “Your Three Words” to pbcms@pbcms.org. Results will be presented at the 2017 Future of Medicine Summit. #Your3Words
• About prescription opioid-related morbidity and mortality, and what steps can be taken to promote the safe use of this important class of medications;
• On the intersection of prescription opioid misuse with the resurgence in heroin use and addiction;
• How the clinical practice environment for pain management and opioid prescribing has been influenced by the public and private sector;
• Alternative therapies for treatment;
• On recommendations for promoting safe opioid use in different patient populations.

There is also a critical need to discuss how to support comprehensive treatment for pain and substance abuse disorders and prevention strategies. For additional information contact John James, Director of Public Health & Disaster Services at johnj@pbcms.org.
